

Sunday Tour Includes 150 Miles Good Roads

A circle tour that takes the motorist 150 miles over good roads through scenic country is suggested as this week ends a trip for Marion motorists by Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the Marion Auto club.

No part of the route is retraced but instead each mile has something new in store for the traveler.

Cities and towns on the itinerary include Upper Sandusky, Liffin, Alton, Willard, Greenwald, Mansfield, Lexington, Mt. Gilead and Fulton. Each of the places mentioned has its peculiar spots of interest. At Liffin is Heidelberg university which has its big, railroad along the Mansfield is the home of the state reformatory. Numerous other places of interest are located enroute.

The route may be made as follows:

Marion to Upper Sandusky, route 1. Upper Sandusky to Liffin route 53, Liffin to Greenwald route 17, Greenwald to Mansfield route 13, Mansfield to Mt. Gilead route 12 and Mt. Gilead to Marion, route 47.

From Paris comes a story of the discovery of a twenty-inch snake in the stomach of a Customs men seized 1,000 cases of liquor plain why they hadn't used city trucks for hauling the liquid poison away. Possibly it was an oversight.

There is liable to be quite a little sympathy for the failed strike of 2,600 barbers in New York City, who demand Saturday closing at 9 p. m. Instead of 10 o'clock as at present; half days off on legal holidays and full days off on Christmas, New Year's and Labor day. There is much to be said for such a demand as this of the New York barbers and very little that can be offered in opposition to it, provided every other day, or something like that, isn't a legal holiday in New York.

A Story of Barbarities.

The story of the barbarities which have been practiced by attendants against the girl inmates of the New Hampshire State Industrial school at Manchester is so shocking that it would hardly be believable did it not come from Charles W. Tobey, governor of the Granite state.

The governor, in offering unquestionable proofs of his charges, told of girls in their teens stripped of every vestige of clothing and beaten, of girls made to stand naked while a hose was turned on them and its force directed at their faces from a short distance, of girls confined in dungeons, the dimensions of which were six by eight feet, and the only opening for ventilation being a wire-covered hole at the top of the front; the only contents being a blanket and a bucket.

The governor related that girls were given as high as 250 lashes on their naked bodies with a piece of rubber piping, and in one case the attendant starting the whipping had to be relieved by another attendant, having fired as the result of the duration of the punishment.

The statement of the governor followed a denial of harsh treatment made by a former chairman of the board of trustees whose reappointment was refused by the governor on the ground that the former chairman had had cognizance of conditions in the school.

In closing his statement the governor spoke of the methods of punishments which had been followed up to the time of his investigation as more inhuman and brutal than any utilized in any state prison for men.

The one relieving phase of the story is that it is a record of past brutalities and not of the present, for changed conditions obtain in the institution now. However, there was one thing lacking in the governor's statement, which would have pleased all to whose attention it has come; that is, the punishment meted out to the attendants responsible for the inhumanities. Without such a record, the story is incomplete.

America To Police the World.

"Nations desire to be relieved of the burden of armaments," Sir Oliver Lodge told Americans a few afternoons ago in a radio address broadcast from London. "How is that to be accomplished?" he went on. "Armaments can not be altogether dispensed with until the coming of the millennium. The League must have a police force; it must have a mobile instrument able to enforce order and curb the recalcitrant and the rebellious. Solidarity would it have to be used, but it must be in existence."

Then the eminent British scientist paved the way for the unloading of his dream by pointing out that international jealousy would preclude the bestowing of such power on any European nation. "If one of us possessed such a power," he said, "all would demand it. We can not afford it." Yet, he urged, there must be such a power to enforce the decree of the League courts, and that power "can only be in the hands of a people who can afford it, a people who can be trusted not to abuse it; a people who have so much land of their own that they can not be suspected of wishing to grab more; a people who have refrained from meddling in the affairs of Europe; a people with high and noble traditions to which presently they will determine to adhere."

Now where will a people to meet these specifications be found? Hub! That's easy.
A bled man with one hand tied behind his back should be able to locate them were their chests puffed out as Sir Oliver must have anticipated they would be in response to his characterization, even if he did administer a final slap by indicating that they were not adhering to their "high and noble traditions."

In any event, there can be no doubt regarding the people Sir Oliver had in mind, for he came out and named them. The American people. Of course. Anybody could guess that with his eyes shut.

A mighty clever plan that—for Europe.
Sir Oliver admits it. "I am sure that our international weapons can be largely dispensed with, that we can turn our attention and our resources from unprofitable insurance against criminal attack to the enterprises of moment which we are now too poverty-stricken to attempt," is the way he puts it.

And Europe could do just that, were the United States sufficiently foolish to enter the League of Nations and take on the burden of maintaining its police force. But it's hard to picture this country attaining a degree of altruism such as that. Sir Oliver admits that there is little outlook for precipitous action on our part; that it will take time for us to see the way and follow the call of that idealism—which Europe would have us manifest, but which it has never shown—and accept the policing of the world. Sir Oliver says the time is not yet ripe for it, and he's overwhelmingly right on that point.
The time isn't ripe, and it will not be until the coming of that same millennium of which he speaks.

The colored Republican chairman of Hereafter the practice down there has been to deny negroes the right of suffrage, but killing them for political activity is going to the extreme, even for Georgia.

A New York doctor told a Klenzels rather thick that the time is coming when the Maybe so, but predictions along that line have been overworked for the last 100 years.

Prohibition agents seized a $75,000 still

A jury at White Plains, New York, has refused to indict a man charged with stealing a 1926 Ford for grand larceny, holding that the theft of such a vehicle can not possibly be more than petit larceny at the utmost. Another entry for the great industrialist's album of Ford stories.

The Italian government has voted a fund equal to $5,200,000 in American money to reconstruct the regions in southern Italy devastated by last week's earthquake. Such a sum may appear insignificant in the eyes of Americans, but it will go a long way in paying for material and labor over in Italy, and in any event will probably prove ample to cover all the work which can be accomplished this year.

Vice President Matthew Woll, of the American Federation of Labor, asserts that 10,000 convicts and 15,000 peasants are held in the lumber camps of northern Russia, where lumber is being cut for the American trade.
Little wonder that the Soviets can shade the prices of lumber produced by paid workers.

If the broadcasting people can not yet see their way to the elimination of the crooners, they might afford the suffering public partial relief by cutting out the girl talkie star "guest artists" who, though they may be blessed in face and form, are total losses as vocalists.

The net operating receipts of sixty of the railroads of the country fell off 33.9 per cent. in June compared with June of last year, the receipts being $58,337,000 this year compared with $88,371,000 in June of 1929. A few more showings like that and the interstate commerce commission may feel the call to reduce the rates on grain again on the seeming philosophy that the lower the receipts, the lower the rates should be.

A MESSAGE OF CONDOLENCE.

Editorial Opinion.

FERGUSONISM REVIVED.

Retains from the Democratic primary in Texas demonstrate the wisdom of Governor Moody's decision not to stand for a third term. So clearly drawn are the factional lines between him and the Fergusons that it can not be supposed that any who would have voted for Moody are now found in Mrs. Ferguson's total. Had both Moody and his road commissioner, Ross Sterling, stayed in the primary, they would simply have shared the anti-Ferguson vote. This might have given Mrs. Ferguson a clear majority over all the rest of the candidates.
And there were ten of them.

As late as May 3 dispatches from Texas asserted that Governor Moody planned to offer for a third term. Mr. Sterling, executor of the governor's real policy, was already in the field. But reports from the counties apparently convinced the anti-Fergusonites that "Mac" strength, via "Jim," was at least as great as the rural 100,000 supposed to be the top of the Ferguson hearing. The results of the primary show that this was accurate. Even the governor's failure to stand did not prevent Mrs. Ferguson, running now as always to victorious Jim, from polling over 50,000 votes more than Mr. Sterling. There must be a run-off Augustine 23, and the losers—just the only hope of keeping the Ferguson away from power at Austin.

Two elements, one long powerful and the other long with satisfaction. The Klan almost disappeared as a factor, although as recently as 1924 it was the chief issue, and in 1926 it was much diminished. The vote made no showing against Senator Morris Shoppard, and candidates for governor who are against prohibition were low in the poll. The leader, Mrs. Ferguson, is intensely a dry. A third element, which in the national election of 1928 turned Texas over to the Republicans, also went heavily under in Saturday's voting.
These are, or were, the "Hoovercrats." Their candidate, Thomas B. Love, ran a bad fourth, and already he has moved back toward the party fold on the double check. Obviously Texas, like Virginia and North Carolina, was simply anti-Smith and never pro-Hoover or Republican.—New York Times.

EFFECTS OF HIGHER RAILROAD RATES.

Three recent rulings by the Interstate commerce commission were hailed with gratification by railroad managers. The rulings promised to do much toward removing the feeling of antagonism entertained in railroad circles toward the commission. Two of the three authorized rate increases on certain classes of freight in eastern and western territory, while the remaining ruling permitted a decrease in rates long sought by Pacific coast rail lines as a means of recovering business lost to all-water competitors.

The general reduction in freight rates on grain, ordered by the commission to become effective throughout western territory October 1, will not be so well received by the railroads. Unquestion-ably it will reduce their revenues, but, the commission asserts, in view of rate increases in other cases, it will not threaten the maintenance of an adequate system of transportation.

Increases in railroad rates in recent years have been out of fair proportion to tax increases on other property. Railroad operations have been restricted by federal and state legislation, and operating costs have grown steadily and very im-materially. Further, competition of motor cars, motor buses, motor trucks and airplanes has cut deeply into railroad earnings. That water transportation hereafter is to play a much greater part in the movement of freight between important interior centers and between these centers and salt water is not to be doubted. The granting of higher railroad rates unquestionably will accelerate that tendency.

The railroads most assuredly are entitled to fair compensation for the service they perform. They must have it if they are to furnish the volume and the quality of transportation which the country's business requires. But they would be unwise to count on rate increases alone as a means of increasing their net earnings. To do so would be to drive business to their competitors. A more certain way lies in improvement of their service and in the lowering of costs of operation per car mile.

Many railroads have effected marked operating economies, but they are far from having exhausted the possibilities in that direction.—Chicago News.

"Flat-Foot" and Aches.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Anything that interferes with the natural and free use of the feet in walking is bound to cause all manner of disagreeable symptoms. If your foot is thrown out of its natural position, strain is bound to be the result. Such strain is capable of causing pain extending anywhere from the foot itself, through the leg and into the back.

Many a person has believed himself to be suffering from rheumatism, or even some sort of kidney or spinal trouble, when these organs and parts are really perfectly normal. He is merely paying the penalty of walking on a foot which has become too weakened in certain parts of its delicate structure to perform its function properly.
"Flat-foot" is the common name given this trouble. It is a displacement of the bones of the foot which receive the weight of the body when standing or walking. As a result the arch of the foot is depressed or flattened.

There are many causes for this condition. Chief of these are improperly fitted shoes. There may be shoes with excessively high heels, or narrow or shoe shoes, or shoes which do not give necessary support to highly arched insteps.

Another cause for flat-foot is the turning of the foot outward in walking. Weakened muscles and ligaments due to exhausting illness, poor health, old age, rapid growth in a child, overweight, prolonged standing on hard floors, canals and bunions and specific diseases—all these are factors in producing flat-foot.

The first measure to take in the treatment of flat-foot is to get properly adjusted shoes. As a matter of fact, foot discomfort from any cause is likely to disappear if the shoes are correctly fitted.
Everybody should cultivate correct attitude in standing and walking. It is a good thing to develop the feet by throwing the weight of the body frequently upon the outer side of the feet while standing. One should walk with the feet held parallel and pointed forward, with the weight on the outer side.

Every sensible person will give close attention to the selection and fit of his shoes and to the cultivation of a proper attitude in standing and walking. He must do this if he is to avoid foot trouble.

You take all sorts of trouble in the selection of a hat. You study "models" and "styles" and fairly suffer until the purchase has been determined upon.

How much care do you take in selecting your shoes? You should take pains because your comfort and health depend upon properly fitted shoes.
Please don't forget this.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

J. A. F. Q.—How can excessive snoring be prevented?

A.—The cause of snoring must be determined.
Almost invariably snoring is the result of mouth breathing. For further information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A READER. Q.—What would cause silver flashes moving like streaks of lightning before the eyes? Headaches follow these spells.

A.—Rheumatism or auto-intoxication would be apt to cause symptoms such as you describe. Correct the diet and watch the elimination. These are symptoms of one form of "Jerk headache."—Cops-right, 1930, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Cologne Is Visited.

BY O. O. MINTURE.

Cologne, Aug. 1.—First crack out of the box in Germany was an awful of a left-over Prussian petty officer with a shaved square head. Near Vossel he was in the middle of the road, helmeted and roped with gold, a guttered Gollath in need of a David. I shivvered in the back seat, wishing he were on our side.

Our cars were labeled with the "F" of France. He demanded everything from passports to a sample of dandruff, rushed up and down like a hydrophobic dog until I thought the war had begun all over again. Finally he hopped into the lead car and escorted us to the town caboose, a portrait of swollen rage.

There we paraded like dumb sheep before the local burgomaster, who, in contrast, was as polite as a dancing teacher. It developed one of the chauffeurs, a placid young Holland man, had no local driver's license. It was straightened out after two hours, during which the entire village dropped around to gape and see the fun.

At Dulsbourg, the next stop, we dined at the new $3,000,000 hotel, designed completely in the modernistic mode from facade to ash trays by one man. Afterward we began the leisurely journey along the Rhine, baiting the ducks for a moment to see the bustling city of Düsseldorf.

We reached Cologne at midnight, dog tired but thankful not to have spent the night in durance vile. At 6 a. m. we were aroused by the clanging chimes of the celebrated Cologne cathedral across the street from our hotel—the Dom. It produced the head roar of a triple dose of quinine.

A big fete day was on and the cathedral steps were massed with surpliced choir boys, nuns and bareheaded priests, holding aloft candles. Out of Cologne's 500,000 population eighty-five per cent. are of the Catholic faith. From a flowered and pebbled hotel porch we watched proceedings.

Cologne is the home of the perfumed confection von de Cologne, and has a history stained with the blood of religious conflict.
I exploited my German on a fourteen-year-old hotel page boy. He ventured modestly:
"I speak a little English." He spoke better English than I, which came to think of it, is a high in left-handed compliments.

The famous Rhine is an unruffled ribbon of green. On its cowering hillsides are the castle ruins of feudal barons, and every few miles a quaint village, outlined like those fluted and frosted ginger cakes of years ago. For miles the bowl-shaped banks are a patch-work of vineyards for the stupendous output of wines. It is the longest river in Germany, and alive with shipping. Along footpaths were nature-loving students, some with tiny feathered hats of the Tyrol, pursuing the custom of learning their country afoot and pitching a pup tent wherever night falls.

A brand new passenger packet churned by bearing the name Kaiser Wilhelm II. Many streets, hotels and cafes also bear his name.
At least along the Rhine. At Bonn, near Weisbaden, we passed the modest cottage of Beethoven.

As we swung into Bingen I began to rectify with gestures and to the utter boredom of everybody "Blauwe Fair Bingen on the Rhine," just as I did at the Galia academy.
Yhans, a Bingen sidewalk was crowded with children arm in arm and six in a row, German school. On one Bingen doorstep was a long and languid lady dachshund with whom Billy flirted outrageously, snantling so firmly on his haunches I had to yank him up and carry him away.

My wife is somewhat a student of Rhine legends, and was so lost in reverie she was silent from Cologne to Mainz—dreaming doubtless of the lure of the fabled Lorelei and Siegfried "doing his stuff." But ruined castles and picturesque greenward are to me just so much more dry stuff for guide books.

What interests me more is that German porters wear green aprons, magazines and newspapers are displayed and sold in hotel elevators, and all motor signs are yellow and black because German efficiency discovers the color combination easiest to read.

The day has been such a whirl that I have little room for the stop at Coblenz, now evacuated by the American army of occupation. It drowns drearily, its streets so deserted that you couldn't get run over if you were despondent. On a tree in the rear of a cafe were carved the names: "Tim and Alex, Toledo, Ohio." In the public square an old ice-cream peddler said: "We miss the boys."—Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Jonsong's Summit Attained.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In two groups, on April 6 and 7, respectively, the greatest expedition of mountaineers ever assembled started off from Darjeeling to attempt the conquest of Ka-chenjunga. In these articles has been to the story of the expedition, and of the fall to conquer Kachenjunga on account of an avalanche. But the party achieved a great triumph, nevertheless. Baked in the attempt to scale Kachenjunga, the effort was next made to climb to the summit of Jonsong peak, the northerly outpost of Kachenjunga.

To attain this end, which was crowned with success, it was necessary to "negotiate" Jonsong La Pass. To the south is Kachenjunga, on the Bengal side; to the north, mysterious Tibet.
The magnitude of the feat is shown by the fact that this year's party had 250 loads and eighty porters to car-them.

Jonsong peak, although inferior in altitude to its giant neighbor, Kachenjunga, is true one of the monarchs of the district. It is 24,340 feet high; its summit is broader and more accessible than Kachenjunga. Jonsong towers above all the other peaks within sight.
It is what the mathematician calls a relative maximum. It is pre-eminent in the district, where Nepal, Tibet and Sikkim converge.

Although others have climbed to altitudes several hundreds of feet higher than Jonsong this is the highest mountain summit ever attained by man. The members of the party comprising climbers of five nations were: Professor G. O. Dyhrenfurth, his wife, H. Hot-lin, Ulrich Wieland and Dr. H. Richter, from Germany; Marcel Kurz and H. Duval, from Switzerland; E. Schneider from Austria, Frank S. Smythe from Great Britain, a Henric Gasparri from Italy.

The difficulties the party had to surmount the hardships to endure, are almost unbelievable. Steps had repeatedly to be cut the solid ice, hundreds of them—difficult a grilling work in high altitudes. Sometimes an ice pick, suddenly driven into the ice was all that held the slipping climber from being precipitated to death, far below. I picks, straight at the beginning, were almost semi-circular at the end. The surface was constantly slipping, and often falls great distances with tremendous force. T most implacable and terrible adversary was the blizzard, which blinds and numbs.

PLAN COUNTY MEET OF I. O. O. F. LODGES

Decision Made at District Meeting To Hold Outing in Marion.

Arrangements for the annual county I. O. O. F. lodge picnic at one of the Marion parks were made at a district meeting last night in Waldo. F. C. Baron, T. E. Bolander and R. G. Williamson of Marion were named a committee on arrangements to set the time and place and outline a program.

Kosciusko lodge band from Marion entertained with a band concert on the public square preceding the meeting last night. M. G. Collins of near Agosta, president of the district association, was in charge. There was a good attendance from district lodges.

The speaker of the evening was a representative, William "Bill" Jones, of the Mt. Vernon lodge. His talk was on "Neglect," and concerned the importance of being more prompt in building up the lodge order. Mrs. S. P. Nixon and Mrs. G. H. Blumhart entertained with readings. Refreshments were served by the Waldo I. O. O. F. lodge and the Waldo Hebeah order.

KEEP COOL
How you feel depends on what you eat.
Just try a bowl of crisp Kellogg's Corn Flakes. With cool milk or cream and a bit of fruit. You'll surely delight your appetite! And you'll feel better. For Kellogg's are extra easy to digest. They don't "heat" the body. They help you keep cool when it's hot!

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are delicious for breakfast, lunch and supper. Ideal for the children's evening meal. Just try a bowlful for a late bed-time snack.
Made of wholesome corn, one of nature's finest grains. Toasted. Crisp and crunchy.
Always look for the red-and-green Kellogg package. Oven-fresh in the patented inner sealed waxlike wrapper. At all grocers. Served by hotels, cafeterias, restaurants — on dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Eggplant Now in Season, Provides Pleasing Dish

WHEN the traditions of eggplant say harsh words about this rather flat vegetable, you have only one comeback—"Do you like oysters?" And many of them do! Anybody who can eat a fried oyster with gusto shouldn't draw the line at eggplant, for there is something of the same flavor to this succulent vegetable.

At this time of the year it's in season. It is wholesome, provides a pleasant change, and so deserves more than one trial. It is something of a cultivated taste, and like a lot of other foods, eggplant has been criticized for itself when the blame should fall on those who cook it. It's cooked wrong so often! The only too-common method of slicing eggplant thin, coating it thickly with egg and breadcrumbs and frying it in deep fat doesn't give one much of a taste of eggplant. Even in appearance it is flabby and characterless.

Proper Preparation
To give eggplant a fair chance it should be permitted to retain its natural shape and flavor by generous cutting and delicate cooking. The eggplant should be well chosen to begin with. A good specimen is deep purple, has a shiny skin and smooth surface and is light in weight. If an eggplant feels heavy then it is old, full of seeds, bitter in flavor.

At its best eggplant has few seeds, and those tiny, and the flesh is firm and white inside.

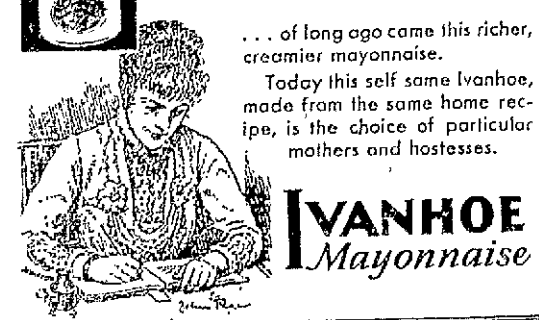

Cut the eggplant in fairly thick slices—at least half an inch—and peel. Then fry lightly in butter until tender. No coating with egg or breadcrumbs—a natural brown coat will form during the cooking. Brown on both sides and serve hot, first seasoning with a little salt and pepper.

Other Methods
Eggplant can be stewed also. Cut into cubes instead of thick slices. Place in a saucepan and add some juicy tomatoes. Cook until tender—about half an hour—then add salt and pepper and serve.

Eggplant combines well with any number of vegetables. It can be stewed with extra sweet pepper, celery, onions. It goes rather well with lamb, veal and chicken. If it seems a little flat in flavor it can be topped up pleasantly with a dash of ground ginger, lemon juice or Worcestershire sauce.

If you live in a flat employ a cook who can successfully roast the fowl.

From a mother's recipe book . . .

. . . of long ago came this richer, creamier mayonnaise.

Today this self same Ivanhoe, made from the same home recipe, is the choice of particular mothers and hostesses.

CLARA BASCOM SETS NEW TRACK MARK

SECOND CLIPPED OFF LOCAL TRACK RECORD

High Noon Beats Former Mark Only To Have It Lowered Again, Races Concluded.

By Bob Fittori

Marion's four day program of Short Ship racing came to a close yesterday with the breaking of the track record of 2:07 3/4 by Clara Bascom in the free for all trot. High Noon, son of Guy Axworthy doing it in the first heat when he traveled the mile in 2:00 three quarters. Clara Bascom a gray mare from the Line Grove Farm Stables took the second heat in 2:00 1/2 breaking High Noon's mark by a half second.

However neither of these horses won the race. High Noon coming through to a surprise victory in the third heat and then coming the extra fourth trip with ease. In the third heat Clara Bascom led up to the three quarter pole where High Noon broke and Hal Watts edged into second place and then took the lead to win the heat in 2:00 1/2. Phillips had plenty of trouble in getting them off in the fourth heat but they finally got away with Sturgeon pilot. Watts in the lead High Noon second and the mare third. They finished the half in this way and went clear around the second trip without any horse moving from its position. Time was 2:12.

Favorite Too Good

Bloomer Girl an outstanding favorite, was simply too good for the other entries in the coming event, the "diamond race". She won with room to spare in the first heat, and more than justified it in 4 odds in the second heat by leading. Lou Chinn all the way and increasing the margin of victory on the stretch. Barney George quoted at 6 to 2 and looking as if he should be at least 20 to 2 in the third heat from Lake Worth and they finished the half in this way and went clear around the second trip without any horse moving from its position. Time was 2:12.

WESTERN STARS WIN IN TENNIS BATTLES

Coveted Seabright Bowl Certain To Travel to Coast This Year

By The Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The first time since Howard Kliney won it in 1921 the coveted Seabright tennis bowl was certain to travel to the far west today.

Upset victories in the semifinal round of men's singles yesterday placed two 8-year old Pasadena youths into the championship round of the Seabright tennis tournament. Llewellyn Jones Jr. and Sydney H. Wood Jr.

Vines scored his second victory in two days over Llewellyn H. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., world famous internationalist and No. 2 in the national ranking. Wood gained the right to face Vines for the title today by eliminating the strongly favored southern, Clifford Sutter of New Orleans.

To make the far western sweep all the more impressive, two more Californians reached the final of women's singles. Dorothy Cruikshank of Santa Ana eliminated Edith Gross of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-1 to reach the championship round where she was joined later by Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles. Mrs. Harper put the sole remaining eastern hope, Victoria Hillyer of Philadelphia.

Fairfield Turns In 5-3 Victory Over Loop Leader

SHOVEL NINE GAINS TIE FOR LOOP LEAD BY WIN FROM OSGOOD

Yardmen Tame Huber Sluggers, but Lose 4-3, Electrics in Easy Victory

RESULTS YESTERDAY
Fairfield 5, Roundhouse 3 Shovel 7, Osgood 4
Huber 4, Yardmen 3
C. D. & M. 12, C. & O. 3

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor The Star
When the Erie Roundhouse nine permitted itself to be handled the short end of a 5 to 3 count yesterday by the Fairfield Engineers, it tossed away a golden opportunity to tie the home stretch of the 1924 recreational baseball season with a lead of one full game over the dangerous Steam shovel outfit. While the Erie bunch was being beaten by Fairfield, the Shovel team was unmercifully ushering it into a tie for the top rung of the

HOW THEY STAND IN INDUS LOOP

Roundhouse	0	1	750
Shovel	0	1	750
Huber	3	1	747
C. D. & M.	7	5	583
Fairfield	5	6	475
Osgood	6	7	417
Yardmen	4	8	247
C. & O.	0	11	000

Industrial ladder by taking a decision from the second division Osgood by a 7 to 1 score.

After being whittled out of the place as a contender for the honors of the loop the C. D. & M. Electric continued in the high light of the second place honors by walloping the lowly C. & O. team in a pitched exhibition of baseball. The Huber Manufacturers pushed its win column up one with a 1 and 3 win over the Erie Yardmen.

Fairfield Wins Handily
For some reason or other the Fairfield team did not have any particular trouble in disposing of the highly touted and heavily favored Roundhouse nine. Bob George, sped ball artists of the winners ability with play more than ordinary ability with the sphere but some fairly heavy work by his teammates enabled him to grab another win to add to his 1924 total. The winners garnered 1924 total. The winners garnered two runs in both the first and sixth frames and one in the fourth.

The losers managed to nick Gumble for enough hits to score a single run in each of two second, sixth and seventh frames. With a man on base and two down in the final frame, Fairfield whiffed the crowd three times to end the game that may knock the Roundhouse out of the world series competition.

Shovel Gains Tie
Huber, Coughlin and his Osgood supporters were not quite tough enough to cope with the Shovel power and mental all round play of the Shovel and the electric team for the top post. Shorty Norris continued the hitting feature of the day with a sensational one handed club of 313 feet high as Hazel Osgood right fielder had the ball batted for a four bawler but Norris went hit to deep center and unbedded at. The losers counted their only run in the final inning.

The usual manly row of the Huber lineup had little to do with the win for the manufacturers over the Erie Yardmen if the scorebook is correct. The official markings give the losers eight hits to four for the winners. However they don't pay off on hits. Runs are what run the ball and Huber did that four times while the Yardmen were completing the circuit but three times. The losers put three men on the basepaths in the final innings in an effort to demolish the count but couldn't get anyone farther than third base.

C. & O. Drops Another
There was nothing to it for the Electricians. If the going got too tough for the winners and they couldn't beat their way to the base, the C. & O. holders were kind enough to drop the ball and let them get on anyway. Not all the errors were charged to the railroaders, however for the winners scored between muffed two chances that were so easy it wasn't even funny. Bud Cram clouted the ball for the circuit in the fourth frame.

The defeat assuaged the losers of at least one thing. For at least another week it is the only team which boasts a record of 11 games in the lost column with no victories to its credit. Score by innings and batteries:
Fairfield 204 102 3-3
Roundhouse 010 001 3-1
Gamble and Corbin Lang and Hicklin Shovel Club 200 302 3-1 Osgood 000 000 1-1

IN THE RACE

Lou Gehrig

If Larrupin Lou Gehrig continues for a very long time to propel the pellet out of the park with the regularity with which he is now doing it, it won't be long, until Babe Ruth will be a has been as far as the race for home run honors in the American League for 1924 is concerned.

Lon collected his 33rd round tripper yesterday which places him just three behind the King of Swif. The Crown Prince may dislodge the King if the monarch doesn't do some heavy clouting in a short time.

Despite the crowds it's been the best racing meet ever held in this city and the followers of the sport of kings can appreciate themselves that an outstanding list of horses was given to them. It's been a great week.

The breaking of the track record was a foregone conclusion with the number of Grand Circuit horses that were entered here and especially when the list of entrants in that race for all that were published yesterday. Every entry had a credited time of - 01 or better and despite a heavy track they clipped an even second off the Fairground record of 2:07 3/4. Clara Bascom is the new champion and a worthy one too. Allen was driving.

The fans were introduced to Flashlight the horse that leads the race entries from the paddock in front of the grandstand at the start of each heat. He belongs in the Maryland stables and is entered in a race at the Ohio State fair next month according to her owners.

One of the most interesting features of the entire meeting was a Mr. Crotch's talk on the benefits or rather disadvantages of the fair state of California. It was a darned clever job and one of the best take-offs we've heard of on the love of a native son for his California. And if you weren't lucky enough to hear the talk here's the latest liquor story. It's told from liquor, you take a swal low then jump and creek.

Phillips got the horses off in pretty good shape taking all in all even if he did pull a pretty link one in the third heat of the free for all of yesterday. Mr. Sturgeon can sure thank Steve for a plenty good start there. He should have been fifth and started out with a good lead over the pole horse.

PHILS BREAK LONG STRING OF DEFEATS

Hammer Robin Hurlers To Gain 12-7 Win; Cleveland Wins with Homer in Ninth.

By Hugh S. Fetterton Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Philadelphia's National league club one of the most powerful array of sluggers in the National league has been floundering through the season going from bad to worse as pitchers failed to hold rival batters in check. But the Phils yesterday, "ave" an impressive demonstration of why they are leading the National league in hitting, and came out with a 12 to 7 triumph. They got a few "breaks" in ending their losing streak for Ray Phelps who started for Brooklyn was hurt in the second inning, and Fred Heimach had to come into the game just in time to meet a fire run rally in the third. Philadelphia proved in the next inning that this burst of scoring was not a fluke by scoring five more times to clinch the victory and won the game with seven runs, two hits and five errors. The entire distance.

Robins Held Lead
The Phils won the victory meant only a bit of encouragement but it was a rather serious affair for the Phils. Instead of increasing their lead over the Chicago Cubs who again were idle along with Cincinnati the margin was reduced to two games. Likewise the New York Giants made a big gain. The Giants blasted out 10 hits against the Boston Braves and won an 11 to 7 decision. It placed them five games behind the leaders and only three back of Chicago.

The Pittsburgh Pirates did still battle with their third straight one run victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and their fifth successive triumph.

To Go to Winner of Future Race in Arlington Park Meeting Saturday

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Dances and jousts of the turf will share the feature spot on the last program of the Arlington Park racing meeting tomorrow in the matron handicap $7,500 added and the post and paddock stakes worth $15,000 in added money.

Next of the track two year olds in training have been nominated for the post and paddock a dash of six furlongs and at least 11 are expected to go. With fourteen in the race it would grow nearly $30,000 paying the winner about $21,000 the richest purse of the season for youngsters.

RISKY SIGNS TO FIGHT
OKLAHOMA, Aug. 1.—Johnny Risko, the Cleveland boxer boy and Babe Hunt, Pomeroy City heavyweight have been matched for a 10 round bout here the night of September 15. Charles J. Brill, matchmaker for the Metropolitan athletic club (announcer) today.

ON THE INSIDE

With Bob Kirkpatrick

MAYBE the Erie Roundhouse ball club is singing the blues today and again maybe it is not. If not it should be after losing away the last opportunity they have had this season. With a full game lead on the second place Steam shovel club the railroaders allowed a ball club which has not shown more than ordinary strength all year to step out and hand it a 7 to 3 beating. The defeat drops the Erie outfit into a deadlock for the top post with but two games more to be played. The Shorel gained the tie by virtue of a 7 to 1 win over the Osgood nine.

Even though the Roundhouse lost last night and went into a tie it does not mean that it can't enter the world series games. If it can win both of its two remaining contests and the Shovel is beaten once the railroaders will win the league. This looks quite unlikely at present unless the Shovel company has got a lot of its men and makes them ineligible for play. Strangely enough both the Erie and the Shovel play the same two opponents in the final two games. Next Thursday night Erie takes the lowly C. & O. nine and the Shovel engages the Huber sluggers. On the following Thursday in the final start of the season the two teams trade opposition the Shovel taking the C. & O. and Erie backing the Huber nine. I offer to bet in my drop a game but it looks like the industrial loop may finish the season in a tie. If it does — well well talk about that later.

ON the free games are billed for tonight in the regular Commercial 12 errors.

WINS ANOTHER

MacDonald Smith, Veteran G Adds Another Title to Imposing

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Two breaking rounds have enabled Donald Smith veteran Scot to tie the Long Island open golf championship for the second straight year. Until yesterday, 10 had never broken at the Engineers Country one of the toughest courses in metropolitan district but Smith the top of his game shot a 63 in his morning round and another 64 the afternoon to hang up a total of 127 and win the championship by the decisive margin of strokes. Willie Klein of West Hills was second with 28 and Sarazen third another stroke.

league clashes. The Prospect spring B game booked for Lancaster will not be played because the directors are at Camp Perry training the next person out. The J. diamond will not be able to play the members of the state high department are booked to settle a standing dispute as to whether ball team of the state or the highway department is the better. They will fight it out tonight at 8:00. The Kappas take on K in what should be another of the fraternity boys but stranger could happen than a win for the latter. If the Sert U. Mel outfit win the Exelevator by a one score the Exelevator team will lose ball. The Shovel will be the second consecutive win of newspapermen and should make but it's a different Star team tonight than played the day before the first round game. A win for newsmen is possible—but highly probable.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 1.—The of education has decided that will be installed so that White school's football team may play games next fall.

Tuberculosis Sanitarium Would Cost Half Million

Expenditures of $50,000 for Each of Six Interested Counties Is Estimate of Health Association Official, 100 Bed Institution Believed Adequate

The cost of the proposed tuberculosis hospital for the district comprising the counties of Marion, Harrison, Logan, Adams, Delaware and Morgan would amount to approximately $500,000, according to a statement released yesterday by David Wilcox, executive secretary of the Ohio Public Health Association.

Based on the death rate from the disease for the last 10 years, Wilcox estimated that a 100 bed hospital would be necessary to adequately care for the needs in the district. There have been 17 persons per year in the six counties concerned. The average cost of construction, Wilcox said, is $5,000 for each bed. This would mean a cost of $500,000 for the entire institution.

Wilcox, at his yesterday noon session, the weekly luncheon meeting of the Marion County club, which is located in the Marion county into the proposed six-county district. He said that representatives of four of the six counties concerned were present. All of the six have announced themselves as favoring the construction of such a hospital.
